Town Manager Report 10/14/21

Town Office/Town Clerk

- Hired Jade Greiner as the new office assistant, she is wonderful and going to be a great addition to the office and is already picking up things. She is also ready and excited to help with the tasks of helping me with scheduling and getting my tasks complete.

Public Works

- Jimmy decided he did not want to work with for PW anymore. Steve asked and I agreed to Hunter Watt helping Steve out with the brush cutting and other odd projects.
- The additional yield sign was put up this week and we now have two yield signs people are ignoring. The sheriff was in town today though patrolling route 15 back and forth and pulling people over. I emailed the state person I know who ordered all their items about the flashing yield sign.
- The delivery date for the Hebron st mirrors was pushed back to 11/30.
- The speeding sign is down now, and we are beginning to work on what's wrong with it.
- Seasonal items have been taken in, like the dock. We left some benches out because it's still warm and people are still using them.

Town Manager

- There were quite a few tax bills that came back this and last week, so I spent a considerable amount of time tracking down addresses and resending them to people.
- Emailed back and forth with the insurance company about the water spicket and spring road spring. Still working on the insurance part, but for the spring road spring I spoke with the state spring inspector (it's a real job!) and he will be emailing what it takes for a spring to be legally used as a water source.
- Last week Eric brought up what we should and shouldn't be talking about on email. The guidance I first got when I became a town manager has changed. They said we really should limit our discussions on email. It's ok to discuss scheduling items and things of the sort, but when two selectboard members respond to an email that's a quorum and shouldn't be done.
- I spent time on Doughty Hill with Lorretta Dube, who requested an address.
- Axiom crew was up last week and found a break in the service between the town office and Church, supposed to be back to fix it but haven't heard back yet.
